

Biography

Katherine D. Graham is a self-published Fantasy author from Tennessee, USA. Katherine has been writing as a hobby since childhood. She self-published two YA Novels (Y.P.C. Agent 99.0 and Age of the Vampires: A New Age Rises) as a hobby while refining her craft, which are no longer on the market. Katherine's debut self-published Fantasy novel, The Vow That Twisted Fate, is the first self-published novel launching her writing career as an adult Fantasy author.

Katherine holds a BA Foreign Language/Lit: Japanese from the University of Memphis in Tennessee. She worked for the Memphis Public Library and Information Center in her college years, and is still a vocal supporter of the Friends of the Memphis Public Library.

In addition to the library system, Katherine actively raises support for the St Jude Children's Research Hospital, The House of Mews cat sanctuary, the Memphis Zoo, and Swim Across America.

Katherine loves adventures, especially traveling. She also enjoys cooking, reading, and spending time with her family and three cats.
